Income Tax season is fast approaching! Back again after a successful year in 2016, BBC will be offering FREE income tax preparation services in Cornucopia Place (7201 Kinsman Road, Suite 103b) starting in January 2017 through April 2017.

Why give most of your refund to a high cost tax preparer? There are many other ways you can use that extra money. Last year BBC helped over 1,033 families save money. BBC’s staff looks forward to helping more families this year, so they can put that money back into their lives in a progressive way.

Our Volunteer Income Tax Assistance services are supported by Earned Income Tax Coalition of Cuyahoga County, Enterprise Community Partners, Inc., and funders such as Sisters of Charity Foundation, Third Federal Savings and Loan, and PNC Bank. To make an appointment for our sites or any free tax preparation site around Cuyahoga County, call the United Way’s First Call for Help by dialing 2-1-1.

BBC is recruiting volunteers to provide quality free tax preparation to residents and to greet clients. Anyone can sign up to become a volunteer. There is no experience necessary, just attend a Coalition led training to become an IRS-certified volunteer tax preparer. Sign up today by visiting www.refundohio.org or call BBC’s Omelia Thornton at 216.341.1455 for more information.

This is the time of the year where we reflect on our accomplishments and prepare for the upcoming year. We know that BBC could not accomplish its goals without the support and hard work of our residents and stakeholders. To show our appreciation, we are presenting two awards at our second annual holiday celebration. New this year, the Momentum Emerging Leader will be awarded to an individual or group that recently started working in collaboration with BBC and neighborhood partners to bring an exciting initiative or project to our neighborhoods. The Mildred Cephus Legacy Leader will be awarded to an individual or group that has a longstanding relationship with BBC and neighborhood partners and continuously works to improve the quality of life for themselves and their neighbors. Last year’s winner of the Mildred Cephus Award was Belinda Gator. Ms. Gator won for her continuous support for youth activities in our service area. Although the deadline to submit a nomination has passed, you can still attend the event. BBC’s Holiday Celebration will be held on Saturday, December 3, 2016 at the Double Tree - Tudor Arms Hotel, 10660 Carnegie Avenue. To attend, purchase a ticket at bbc2ndannualholidayparty.eventbrite.com or call BBC’s office at 216.341.1455.

HILLSIDE PARK a New Play Space for KINSMAN RESIDENTS

Have you driven by Hillside Park off East 79th Street and Hillside Street lately? Over the past three years, there has been significant changes to this greenspace. For years, there was only an old worn out swing set that children did not want to play on. Now, there is actually a greenspace with flowers, benches, and a beautiful space for children to play and adults to enjoy.

Over this past fall season, BBC hosted a series of events at Hillside Park to engage families in conversation about what they envisioned Hillside Park to become. Through these events, some possibilities discussed included hopscotch, an interactive playground, and a race track. BBC will continue to have these conversations about the direction of this greenspace. Future events will include building sessions, paintings, and playing in the snow! We are also looking to have a youth lead artist program for families. We are continually looking for volunteers and ideas for programming around making this greenspace into a play space. To learn more and get involved in this conversation and series of events, contact Erick at BBC at 216.341.1455.

-Megan Goedeker

Residents from Collax and Minnie participate at the event on October 22, 2016. This was the first event in the series hosted at Hillside Park.

Volunteer to Help Increase Cleveland’s Tree Canopy

One hundred years ago, Cleveland proudly wore the name ‘Forest City’. Since then, the city has seen a slow decline in healthy trees because of development, disease, and climate stresses. The recommended standard for an urban tree canopy is 40%, which is currently held by cities like Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Today, Cleveland has a tree canopy of 19% which continues to decline.

The health of trees is critical to our life in the city. The Cleveland Tree Plan created in 2015 estimates that the existing trees generate around $28 million dollars in services. These beneficial services include keeping our waterways clean, increasing property values, and improving air quality.

BBC is looking for residents like you willing to take action and help preserve and grow the tree canopy in the Kinsman and Central neighborhoods. Join other residents, like the Climate Ambassadors, who are investing time to help plant trees and learn new skills to maintain and grow these long-term investments. Activities this year included tree plantings with students at Anton Grdina School and learning from experts through a series of tree stewardship workshops at CornUcopia Place. If you would like to get involved, please call our office at 216.341.1455 and ask to speak with Erick Rodriguez.

All Scholars are able to Succeed at George Washington Carver STEM

At George Washington Carver STEM we believe that all of our scholars can be successful. For scholars to reach their highest potential, they must be surrounded by a community of parents, staff and organizations that are committed to supporting them and are not willing to give up on them.

Parents are invited to talk with leadership and staff every Tuesday morning for our weekly Tuesday Talks from 7:40am until 8:30am. The first Tuesday of every month at 8:30am, we host the Parent Academy where parents work with staff to learn how to support their child’s academic growth at home. Family Night is the second Wednesdays of the month from 4:30pm until 6:30pm where the entire family enjoys dinner, games, and prizes. Events planned for the new year will be around specific topics such as 8th grade promotion, 3rd grade reading guarantee and Kindergarten readiness.

GWC leadership is working diligently to bring services to the school that help scholars with challenges. This year, Project ACT is located in the school building. Project ACT is a CMSD initiative that provides additional support to scholars and families that are homeless or living with family or friends. Carver has continued the partnership with Beechbrook to provide additional support to scholars struggling with emotional issues in the classroom.

Our Community Wraparound initiative brings in organizations to support scholars with accessing basic needs such as uniforms, winter coats, school supplies, hygiene products, health screenings and book bags. The Community Wraparound Site Coordinator is a resource for parents and scholars to assist with facing difficult situations and are looking for additional support, even if it is not directly related to the child’s academic success but more focused on the families stability.

In 2017, you can look forward to more opportunities for families and partners to be engaged at George Washington Carver. To learn more information on what is happening at Carver or what you, your service group or your organization can do to support our scholars, call the Community Wraparound Site Coordinator, Tiffany Allen at 216.404.5616.

MyCom 2.0 at Anton Grdina Elementary School

“It is inspirational to see the scholars at Anton Grdina Elementary School get excited about giving back to their community,” says Devin Cotten, BBC’s Program Coordinator. In 2016, Kinsman was selected as a MyCom 2.0 neighborhood and BBC as the lead agency. The MyCom (My Commitment, My Community) network connects Greater Cleveland’s young people with high-quality, neighborhood-based programs and services that provide engaging, educational and affordable opportunities in a safe and supportive environment – helping them to connect, navigate and be productive so they can grow, thrive and reach their true potential.

Encouraged by MyCom, fifteen middle school scholars joined forces to perform their first service learning project at the Garden Valley Neighborhood House on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day. They volunteered to pack bags of food for family distribution. Afterwards, they reflected on their experience and were excited to search for other volunteer opportunities.

This spring, scholars plan to complete service projects that address issues of homelessness, gun violence, and ways to support underprivileged youth. Their goals are to set a positive example for their peers and show that youth can be involved in efforts to revitalize their community.

There are plenty of opportunities to support MyCom and scholars from the Kinsman neighborhood. If you would like more information or to volunteer, contact Marionna Bennett, Site Coordinator, at 216.767.9177.

Invest in Cleveland by Purchasing a New Home in Central!

Instead of buying new clothes, shoes, or rims on your car, consider using your income tax refund as a down payment for a brand new home in Cleveland’s Central neighborhood. BBC has four homes available on Stanley Tolliver Avenue in the heart of St. John’s Village, which is named in honor of historic St John’s AME Church on E. 40th St and Central Avenue.

All four homes for sale have 3 bedrooms and are 1,350 - 1,450 square feet. Addresses 3727, 3739 and 3853 Stanley Tolliver have 1.5 baths and the fourth (3743 Stanley Tolliver) has 2.5 baths. All of the homes feature new carpet, unfinished full basements, two-car garages, fenced backyards, and central air.

For more information on any of these homes, contact Jason Minter at BBC at 216.341.1455.

Have you driven passed East 79th Street and Kinsman Road or East 30th and Community College Avenue lately? If so, you rolled passed the new Apartments At Heritage View and Sankofa Village developed by Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA). Over the past year, these developments have been in construction. This spring, both will be completed and open for leasing.

The Apartments At Heritage View is a four-story apartment building, located at 3020 E. 79th Street. This building is comprised of sixty, one-bedroom units. Each unit is furnished with a stove, refrigerator, and dishwasher. Units have central air, laundry room on every floor, elevator and a beautifully designed community room.

Sankofa Village is located at 2819 Community College Avenue. It is comprised of a combination of townhomes and a sixty, one-bedroom apartment building. The townhomes start at two bedrooms and go up to four bedrooms and up to two bathrooms per unit. The apartment building will have all new amenities such as stove, refrigerator, and dishwasher. It will have central air, laundry room on every floor, elevator and community room.

Perks of both locations are easy public transportation access, and proximity to the Downtown Cleveland attractions, such as First Energy Stadium, Progressive Field, Tower City, Playhouse Square, Jack’s Casino, and restaurants for your wining and dining.

In partnership with CMHA, BBC provided workforce development assistance by tracking the progress of residents working on the construction of these housing developments. BBC recorded their experiences, the tasks they completed, and the skills they developed. BBC also provided wrap-around services for residents working on the projects. The construction partners were Ralph Falbo and Mistick Construction. For leasing at The Apartments at Heritage View, visit CMHA’s website at www.cmha.net. For leasing at Sankofa Village call 216.303.8963.

Neighborhood Retail Commercial Study

BBC’s Housing Specialist Larry LaPrade and researchers from Cleveland State University teamed up to produce a study titled “Neighborhood Retail Commercial Study: Cleveland, Ohio.” Findings from this study will provide useful data for the community development industry.

This study sought to answer critical questions about retail development in urban neighborhoods. Findings include (1) a higher level of neighborhood loyalty to convenient local shopping than expected, (2) beauty salons and barber shops, auto repair, grocery, convenience, and full service restaurants showed the greatest strength across all neighborhoods, and (3) a need for continued focus on housing, critical mass in close proximity, strengthening neighborhood anchor assets, and promoting business success strategies in order to support viable commercial retail main streets in the long term.

BBC congratulates Larry, Independent Researcher, for participating in this thought provoking study. This study is published in the Urban Publications. The full list of co-authors are Kirby Date; Robert A. Simons; Matthew Martin Thomas; Larry LaPrade; and Rachel Oscar. HEAL Network Member Spotlight:
YMCA’s We Run This City Youth Marathon Program

We Run This City (WRTC) is a highly rewarding health and wellness program of the YMCA of Greater Cleveland. The program works at fighting childhood obesity and teaching goal setting as a character development intervention among sixth through twelfth graders in Cleveland, Ohio.

WRTC engages Cleveland youth in running and nutrition activities, which are improving their physical fitness, creating healthy habits, building self-esteem and reducing their likelihood for lifelong obesity-related illnesses.

Students are trained to compete in entry level 1.2 mile run, 10k, half marathon, or full marathon. The training schedule includes a nutrition component, practice runs, practice races and conditioning clinics. Training also prepares students to cover the distance for which they have signed up for as part of the Rite Aid Cleveland Marathon.

Now in its 12th year, WRTC has offered over 6,500, Cleveland Metropolitan School District students the opportunity to spend the school year setting fitness goals, learning about health and nutrition, and training for and participating in one of four Rite Aid Cleveland Marathon race day events. This year WRTC has grown to 43 schools with 1,000 program participants. Anton Grdina Elementary School in the Kinsman neighborhood is one of the participating schools.

We are in need of volunteers. If you are interested in volunteering or registering your child with the We Run This City Youth Marathon please contact Carla Turner, Program Director at volunteer4wrtc@clevelandy.org or 216.263-6298.

BoxSpot Spurring Opportunity for New Businesses on Kinsman Road!

BBC recently made headlines with the BoxSpot, an exciting new project in the Kinsman community created to support small businesses. The lack of affordable storefronts and high occupancy costs are significant barriers to many small businesses. The BoxSpot project looks to solve those issues by providing businesses high-quality space at low costs. Built from retrofitted shipping containers, BoxSpot will have rental options of 160 sq. ft. (8’x20’) and 320 sq.ft. (8’x40’). The units will be finished with insulation, drywall, electrical outlets, and an efficient heating and cooling system to keep utility costs low. Storefront windows will be installed to provide natural light and provide display space. Most importantly, each participating business will be part of a community of entrepreneurs with which to leverage, teach, learn, and help build up their customer base.

The innovative design at BoxSpot creates a community amphitheater as a place for food, fun, and the arts. Upon completion in early 2018, the gathering space will host community events and performances to generate foot traffic and expose each business to new customers. A unique upper deck and an iconic viewing tower will give visitors views of the outdoor stage and the downtown skyline.

BBC is now recruiting businesses interested in being part of the BoxSpot. Ideally, the site will include a mix of businesses providing a variety of products and services, including food, handmade items, and professional services. We encourage established small businesses interested in joining the BoxSpot community to apply.

If you are an interested entrepreneur or know of someone, please contact Jason Minter in our office to receive more information.

Neighborhood Leadership Development Program Seeks 2017 Applicants

In 2006, the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel Foundation, along with former Cleveland Mayor Michael White, established a leadership training program for engaged neighborhood leaders. The Neighborhood Leadership Development Program (NLDP) is a free, 16 session community engagement training program for residents of Cleveland, and its inner ring suburbs, who are working on projects within the City of Cleveland and who are determined to make a positive impact on their communities.

After the application process, 20 committed individuals are chosen for the program year. NLDP participants and graduates are a diverse group with many interests and are working on a wide variety of issues to improve life in their communities.

The program will cover topics such as program planning, marketing & communications, program fundraising, conflict resolution and negotiation, community engagement methods and more.

Every NLDP participant and NLDP graduate also has ongoing access to the services of a Program Coach. NLDP coaches give advice and support tailored to the needs of the participant.

The 16 sessions take place on Saturdays at Trinity Commons at 2230 Euclid Avenue beginning August 26. The deadline for applications is AUGUST 4, 2017. For additional information, the 2017-2018 curriculum and an online application, visit www.nldpcleveland.com or call 216-776-6167.

Starting the School Year Off STRONGLY in Central!

George Washington Carver STEM Elementary School is starting the school year off strongly. In addition to the rigorous instruction and engaging learning environment, our Central community STEM school is poised for an amazing school year. Carver’s leadership and CMSD have changed the school times this year to 9:30am-4:00pm with breakfast starting at 9:10am. It is very important that all scholars are in school every day on time and ready to learn. With a less than ideal absentee and tardy rate the change in the school time allows Carver families more time in the morning to get ready for the school day. To accommodate families that prefer an earlier school time and desire extra creative learning time, Carver is beginning a before school program. Carver’s after school program will continue to provide homework help and various engaging programs provided by school partners.

George Washington Carver STEM Elementary School is continuing its monthly parent advisory committee meetings, family engagement events and monthly Tuesday Talk networking activities in order to engage parents and the community in supporting the success of all the scholars. For the third school year, Tiffany Allen, BBC’s Community Wraparound Site Coordinator, has been supporting the school in reaching their goals around attendance, behavior and parent engagement. She is available to support families one-on-one to help them have everything they need to make sure their children are successful in school.

Scholars have a plethora of opportunities to support their academic, social and emotional development. City Year Corps has returned this year to support with classroom instruction, attendance monitoring and before school programming. Carver is introducing sports, gardening, and an abundance of new programs to the list of exciting things happening at the school. For more information on George Washington Carver, its staff, programs and events you can follow them on Twitter @GWCarverCLE, like them on Facebook @GWCCleveland and check out their website at www.clevelandmetroschools.org/Carver.

Annual Marshall Avenue Back-to-School Safety Fair

Residents in the Kinsman-Union neighborhood kicked off another school year with fun-filled activities at the Annual Marshall Avenue Back-to-School Safety Fair and Block Party. This event took place on Saturday, September 9, 2017, 12pm – 6pm. Every year, residents block off Marshall Avenue to provide safety tips to area youth and celebrate the start of the school year. Residents enjoyed line dancing, games, music, free food, valuable safety and health information. Event planner Myra Simmons described the event as “It’s not just a block party, it’s not just a safety event and it’s not just a back-to-school event. It’s everything wrapped into one.” BBC is proud to serve as fiscal agent for this event. To donate for future events or for more information, contact Myra Simmons at 216.322.3227 or myraplace@yahoo.com.

Bridgeport Mobile Market is a 16-foot refrigerated box truck that carries fresh produce on a weekly basis to sites throughout Cleveland. The mission of Bridgeport Mobile Market is to provide convenient and affordable access to fresh produce to low-income residents in Cleveland. To support this social enterprise, business can the following:

Wish your workplace had fresh fruits and vegetables available weekly?
Moving into a new home is a happy occasion, but unexpected repairs like a dripping roof, a flooded basement or a busted HVAC system can turn it into an unhappy – and expensive – one. The good news is that preventive maintenance can curb such common catastrophes.

Put these five projects at the top of your to-do list to keep your home, bank account and sanity intact:

1. Attend to Your Heating, Venting and Air Conditioning (HVAC) System: Your HVAC system regulates the temperature in your home to keep you comfortable throughout the year – and you’ll surely be upset if it breaks down during an epic heat wave. Perform regular seasonal maintenance on your heating and cooling systems to prevent this kind of disruption. Also, check your air filters once a month and change them out as necessary. (Definitely replace used filters when you first move in.) Not only will regular maintenance prolong the life of your HVAC system – and save you from shelling out $3,900 to install a new furnace – but it will also save you considerable cash on your energy bills.

2. Inspect Gutters and Downspouts: Clogged gutters and downspouts can lead to leaking basements, cracked foundations, wood rot, and pest and insect infestations that can cost $500 to $5,000 or more. To prevent devastating damage to your home, ensure that your gutters are free of debris – and that your downspouts are positioned to direct water away from your foundation. Also, keep nearby foliage trimmed to minimize clogging from leaves and branches. You should clean your gutters at least once a year. If you’re uncomfortable doing it yourself, a licensed professional will generally do the job for about $100 to $200, according to HomeAdvisor’s True Cost Guide.

3. Check for Water Leaks—and Fix Them: Water leaks are an easy fix if you catch them early, but they can lead to mold, mildew, rot and other damage when left undetected or unaddressed. Check all toilets and under-sink cabinets for leaks or constant running. Also, take a tour through your new house to inspect for drips and stains on the ceiling. Fix any leaks that you find immediately. A leaky roof – whether caused by weather, age or neglect – can also cause significant and costly long-term damage to your home. Inspect your roof for damage at least once a year, as well as after any major weather event. If you’re not sure how to inspect your roof yourself, consider hiring a professional roof inspector. A professional will know exactly what to look for – and considering the roughly $6,500 it may save you on a roof replacement, it’s well worth the average cost of $230.

4. Assess Your Attic Insulation: Attic insulation controls moisture, retains heat and ensures proper ventilation. If you have an unfinished attic, inspect it to make sure that there is insulation covering the entire space. If there are missing pieces – or if the existing insulation appears to be damaged or depleted – consider adding more insulation or replacing it altogether. Adequate insulation will ensure that your home stays warm in the winter and cool in the summer. And it will save you a substantial amount of money on your energy bill as well – typically as much as $200 a year when coupled with air sealing, according to the EPA. A professional will usually charge about $900 to $1,900 to install blown-in insulation, but most states offer homeowner incentives to help offset the cost.

5. Find and Seal Air Leaks: Stop energy-sucking, money-wasting air leaks by caulking, sealing and weather-stripping all of the seams, cracks and openings in your home. The U.S. Department of Energy suggests testing for leaks by holding a lit incense stick next to potential air leak sources on a windy day. Any smoke stream that moves horizontally suggests a leak that should be sealed. A professional will generally install weather stripping for about $100 to $400, depending on the size of your home and the amount of air escaping it. Not bad when you consider that the EPA reports it can save homeowners as much as 10% on heating and cooling costs.

Fighting Food Waste

The issue of food waste is a huge problem across the United States. Every day our country produces 63 million tons of food waste – enough to fill the Browns Stadium each day for a whole year. The reality is that most of this waste comes from businesses and individual households, people like us.

Over the summer, Bridgeport Café became part of a month long test to help increase awareness about how much food waste we create. We partnered with Rust Belt Riders, a local cooperative, whose mission is to create wealth from waste. They pick up food waste from local businesses and give it another life. We learned that it could be used in a variety of ways including feeding hungry people, feeding animals that feed us, compost, and energy production. There were approximately fifteen people who joined us in discovering how much waste we were producing. They also received cool compost bins for their efforts.

In the end, we found that we created an average of eighty-nine pounds of food waste a week. Annually, that will produce around 4,272 pounds of food waste. Removing that from our waste would be the equivalent of planting thirty-six new trees. Although this was just a pilot, we hope to bring this back to be more responsible stewards of our environment. If you are interested in supporting us, please give BBC a call at 216.341.1455 and take the compost survey. We cannot do this without you!
